

C E N T R E
INTERNATIONAL
D ' A R T
CONTEMPORAIN
DE MONTRÉAL

Call for submissions for AI CIAC MTL MAGAZINE:
« Artificial Intelligence and Artistic Creation »

The CENTRE INTERNATIONAL D'ART CONTEMPORAIN (CIAC MTL) is looking for authors for its AI CIAC MTL MAG. This call is open to researchers as well as professors, artists, curators and art critics. Texts must address “Artificial Intelligence and Artistic Creation” and can deal all aspects of creation in all artistic disciplines including, but not limited to, the visual arts, dance, theatre, architecture, music, and literature.

AI is invading all aspects of our life and already has a great impact on artistic creation. Machine learning systems differ from traditional tools, even the more sophisticated ones. These systems, called “intelligent agents”, have started to invest in the arts sector. They have become true collaborators for artists and create works of art themselves. They open up to new possibilities, while also raising new questions, notably on the nature of creativity and the status of the work art.

The CIAC has been on the forefront of the computer revolution in contemporary art since the 1990s with its CIAC Electronic Magazine (1997-2014). Throughout its long history, the magazine has provided a multifaceted space for reflection to web artists, critics and art historians. The Magazine has enjoyed a highly appreciated international reputation. We now wish to create a new reflection space with the AI CIAC MTL Mag.

Want to contribute to AI CIAC MTL Magazine?

Those interested in collaborating with our magazine are invited to contact us or to send us an abstract of the proposed text (150-200 words) in US letter format (.doc, .docx), as well as a short biography (35-45 words) of the author to claude.gosselin@ciac.ca, magazine director. Texts will be paid. For details, please write to claude.gosselin@ciac.ca.

Deadline: Texts accepted anytime, authors will receive an acknowledgment of receipt within 7 days of the submission of their text.

CIAC MTL is a non-profit organization (NPO) whose mission is to showcase the work of artists and increase public interest in the visual arts by offering a varied and attractive programme. www.ciac.ca

Thank you for your interest in our call for submissions.